

CALL FOR ILLUSTRATOR / DESIGNER For the FUNding Peace online course

Background:

SCI is a century-old organisation dedicated to promoting a culture of peace, and Sustainability and Gender Inclusivity are an essential part of it. To better support people all around the world who are initiating their first educational project (seminar, training course, youth exchange...) we are currently developing an online course focusing on some key elements that should be considered in planning, organising, and evaluating a project.

Our ambition is to develop an online course that is visually attractive and user-friendly, allows for flexibility in learning, integrates videos, and offers easy group interaction and peer support. We are now developing a new online course in project management with three modules: Components of a project; Sustainability; Gender.

To support the design/ visual aspect of the online course, we are looking for an illustrator who will join us in our endeavour.

We are looking for a person who:

- Has experience illustrating publications/content for online platform of a similar length/style;
- Is flexible and willing to work in a communicative process with the project team, including online meetings at important points of the process during the month of April & May 2022;
- Ability to communicate in English;
- (Ideally) has some familiarity with the topic of sustainability and gender, and/or with the work and values of SCI;

The tasks:

- We estimate the total volume of the content for the online course as an equivalent of 50-60 pages of text.
- We encourage you to have a look at the existing modules in our learning platform to have a better understanding. (create an account to have access to the course...)
- We request to have an online meeting at the end of April to define the tasks.
- A first draft for feedback should be ready in mid-May..
- The final edit should be ready by the 31st of May.

What we can offer:

- Service contract and payment for services, for an amount to be agreed.
- The opportunity to be involved in the creation of a resource that will support people practising peace and peace education.
- High visibility of your work within the movement and for youth and volunteer organisations beyond SCI.
